

God's Learning System

Faith is more than belief. It is the the starting point and foundation of God's learning system designed to help each person learn and apply true principles in his or her life and become all that God has promised. In order to exercise faith, a person must have Free agency and be able to make choices. Second, a person must be Aware of some principle or circumstance that would be of good. Third, the person must have Identify as a son or daughter of Heavenly Father and therefore capable of greatness. Fourth, the person must regard Time and that action must be taken before opportunities are lost. Fifth, the person must have Hope.

With faith exercised, a person must Repent or Re-aim so the principle or circumstance can be correctly targeted. He or she must then commit to the overall mission or model. It cannot be sort of, it must be a firm determination. Now is where the Holy Ghost and inspiration and help can do the most good. Sometimes this inspiration is called the still small voice. Still could refer to peaceful, but can also refer to a small drop (as from a still). With this small drop of inspiration a person is ready to go through the learning process again of faith, repentance, commitment, and inspiration. Cycle after cycle, precept upon precept, the learner approaches perfection and joy.
